

In the silence

We run and then we hurry
We try but nonetheless
With all our blind ambition we can't find happiness
I know that You have warned us: Seek and you will find
But without Your guidance we look but are still blind

But in the silence i can always hear Your voice
That voice, so full of kindness fills my heart with love and joy
It happens in an instant and I clearly see
I praise Your name
Because you're always here with me

And yes, I'm only human Sometimes when I'm in doubt
I think I'm so important, that I even shut You out trust in my own judgment about what's wrong or right
But I feel so restless when I'm out of Your sight
